

Problem Statement:

Basic cleaning products don't help remove hair suck to the sides of showers, baths, and toilets.

Details:

When thinking of a problem, I needed to take a break and use my restroom. I noticed that despite have cleaned the bathroom just a few day ago, there was hair on the toilet. This made be think of the strands stuck to the sides of the shower, and how whenever I go to clean it I basically just end up pushing the hair around, and probably actually getting about half of the total hairs. This is an annoying problem that I and others have that seems like it may be an easy fix.